

Comment From Columbia

By Henry W. Patterson.

Let's dream this one out!

New York City, January 16.—It was just thirty days ago that the NFWC was organized. This combination of letters means "NO FOREIGN WAR COMMITTEE." Its birth remains somewhat of a mystery. Some sources have it that a group of notorious "appeasers"—Henry Ford, William Rhodes Davis, George Eggleston (editor of Scribner's Commentator), Colonel Charles Lindbergh, and others—have lent the necessary financial support. At any rate, it has money. And that money has been poured into a nation-wide attempt at quick build-up via radio, the press, and sensational public speeches.

Just twenty-seven days ago, to be exact, a swarthy, bespectacled mid-Westerner was busy getting out his small-town paper—the Cedar Rapids, Iowa Gazette. Today that man bellows from platforms in New York and Washington, and holds a press-conference every time he can get two men to listen to him. He's the man the backers of NFWC chose as the ideal man for the chairmanship of their group. His name is Verne Marshall.

Now Mr. Marshall has all the earmarks of a born press-agent—a propagandist. He has beat the drums for numerous crusades through the columns of his beloved Pulitzer-prize winning Gazette. He attacked prison labour in manufacturing, he charged graft in the State University, he crusaded against slot-machines. No doubt he ought to be commended for these undertakings. But it is a far cry from slot-machines to foreign policy. Mr. Marshall ought to be smart enough to see that. But he isn't. His vague, contradictory statements, his raucousness, his belligerence, and his evident superficiality all betray him.

With a Quack! Quack! Here...

If Mr. Marshall was really sincere in his professed single desire to "keep this country out of war," he wouldn't have adopted the methods he has. He would have appealed to reason; he has not. If Mr. Marshall expected to get a following by being deliberately sensational, he was misled. For himself, he may be satisfied that he has at least become a national figure—in 30 days. It is painful to record that a considered public estimate of that figure would approach zero. Mr. Marshall might do well to remember that Al Capone is a "national figure" too.

Ignorance Is Bliss.

On December 17 the NFWC stated its conviction that the United States must have an impregnable defence and that aid should be given to Britain within the limits of the Neutrality Act. Honest, peace-loving Americans picked up their ears eagerly. Perhaps here was the group for them! Many thought the William Allen White Committee to Aid the Allies had gone too far, and was rapidly becoming a Committee for War.

In its opening-day statement the NFWC frankly stated its intention to seek to counteract the "propaganda" of the White group. Its appeal was quite reasonable. It demanded a clear definition of the slogan: "Steps short of war." It came out against the conveying of merchant ships by the U.S. Navy. It recommended one-man authority for the nation's defence program. It said proudly: "Let no man accuse us of being anything save a group of determined pro-Americans!" "Hurray!" said a goodly number of right-thinking citizens.

In other words, Marshall and his committee showed they knew the value of worming their way in via present attitudes and feelings. If (Continued on Page Six)

STUDENTS HEAR ALFRED NOYES IN MOYSE HALL

General Public Invited to Lectures by Contemporary Poet

ACCOMMODATION LIMITED

First of Series to Be Selected Readings from His Own Poems

Mr. Alfred Noyes, C.B.E., LL.D., LITT.D., will deliver a series of three lectures, the subjects of which will be readings from his own poems, Aspects of Modern Poetry and The Relationship of Poetry and Reality on Thursday, Jan. 23rd, Monday, Jan. 27th and Wednesday, Jan. 29th respectively. The talks will commence at 5 o'clock and will take place in Moyse Hall.

Mr. Noyes, who is to be the visiting lecturer at McGill University during the period from January 23rd to January 29th was introduced to the general public in 1902 on the publication of his "The Loom of Years" and since that time has written many volumes of poems, culminating in the epic, "The Torch-Bearers," in which the strivings of humanity to attain a better world are described in verse. He more than any other contemporary poet, with the possible exception of Mr. John Masefield, has shown the virility of poetry and brought home to a generation that was in danger of forgetting it and the realization that the sagas of human courage and the stories of human achievement are an integral part of our poetic heritage.

Held Chair at Princeton.

Although Mr. Noyes held the Chair of Modern English Literature at Princeton two decades ago, he has not for many years offered in any Canadian university a course of lectures comparable to that which will be held at McGill this month.

On the 23rd of January, Mr. Noyes will, by special request, initiate the series by offering to the audience selected readings from his own poems. In the lecture on January 27th, he will broaden his field to discuss the wider aspects of Modern Poetry, illustrating his remarks by reading from the works of his contemporaries while the concluding lecture on January 29th will deal with the "Relationship of Poetry and Reality."

While Mr. Noyes has been invited to give these lectures chiefly in order that a new generation of students may have the privilege of hearing him, it is expected that many other members of the community will wish to attend, and arrangements are being made for the accommodation of those that wish to do so.

DATES SET FOR SADIE HAWKINS WEEK

Designing Hag Plans Attack On McGill Men

Well-known Spinster Coming February First

That famous Blue Blade from the Kentucky hills, Sadie Hawkins, has the wanderlust again. She's got her eagle eye on McGill's hapless males, and last night sent word that she will be in Montreal from Saturday, Feb. 1st, to Friday, Feb. 7th. The Hillbilly Gal has every intention of getting her man this year, because "the war's making things difficult," she declared.

The first organized activity on Sadie's program is the Sadie Slide, at which she will be the guest of honour of the M.W.S.A.A. The Slide will be held at the Park Toboggan Club on Mount Royal, on Monday, Feb. 3rd, and will feature tobogganing, skiing, skating, dancing and also refreshments. Tickets at $1.00 a couple, will go on sale on the 22nd of January, and may be obtained from section sports managers and the various athletic managers.

On Sunday night the Mountain Menace will try her hand at journalism, and will show the campus how the Daily should be run with her co-ed issue. Rumour has it that the result will be slightly pink again this year, though Sadie was quite badly hurt at the caustic reception given to her last attempt to colour the news.

To wind up her week at McGill, Sadie will entertain at the Spinster's Spree, in R.V.C., on Friday. Herb Morrissey and his orchestra will supply the music. The tickets for this dance will be sold by class officers, at $1.25 a couple, and the sale will be limited, as the mountain gal needs plenty of room to do her hillbilly hopping.

Now's the time to get out the old dime banks, girls, and see whether you've saved enough to go sparkling with L'il Abner. If not, you'd better do something about it quick, because the boys will soon be getting awfully jittery wondering whether or not they've made the grade.

The magazine was so small and business so bad that when, gloomily sitting in the office, a funeral was heard going by, the friend walked away from the window, saying with a worried frown, "Can that be our subscriber?"

COEDS TO GATHER IN MASS MEETING

PLAYERS CLUB RESUMES WORK

Wodehouse Play Scheduled for February 13, 14 and 15

Scenery for Moyse Hall Presentation Now Under Construction

The Players' Club resumes activity in its production of P. G. Wodehouse's "Good-Morning, Bill!" today, stated the president of the Club, last night. Rehearsals continue after the mid-term break; scenery is in the process of construction and the play will be seen in Moyse Hall on the nights of Thursday, Friday and Saturday, the 13th, 14th and 15th of February. This farcical comedy which was originally planned for fall production was unable to be presented then, so the performances in February will have the added advantage of more rehearsal time. According to the director, Mr. John Mellor, this factor will make for a very smooth and polished performance.

In producing a very light comedy such as "Good Morning, Bill!" the Players' Club is following the precedent established in "French Without Tears," which was so well-received two seasons ago. The play contains the very typical Wodehouse characters and the very amusing Wodehouse situations, and the Players' Club presentation will be strengthened by the fact that two of the leading parts are being taken by Jean Thirlaway and John Villiers, both from England and both new to the Players' Club and to McGill.

I.V.C.F. HOLDS FIRST LUNCHEON OF TERM

The first meeting of the I.V.C.F. will take place today in the form of a luncheon which will be held at 1 p.m. in the McGill Union. The guest speaker of the meeting will be Mr. J. Gardner of the Montreal Tramways Company.

The executive of the I.V.C.F. also announced last night that the first Fireside of the new term will be held this Sunday in the Reading Room of the Union. The program will include a period of hymn-singing, and a speech which will be given by the Rev. Patterson of the St. Andrew's Church of Lachine.

The soloist of the evening will be Miss Adele Lortie, while Henry de Pierro will render piano solos.

The fishing population of the Maritime provinces is a special and stable industrial class. Coast-wide fisheries operate ordinarily from April to November. In sheltered districts fishing is often carried on until January. The larger vessels operate of course all winter and certain types of fishing are carried on even during the stormy months of winter and early spring.

WAR SERVICE PROGRAM FOR WOMEN

First Lecture — Tuesday, January 21st, 8 o'clock in the Montreal High School Auditorium. Address by Principal James. All subsequent lectures will be on Tuesday evenings in Moyse Hall at 8.00 p.m.

PRINCIPAL TO SPEAK

Will Discuss Second-Term Schedule of War Program

MACDONALD INCLUDED

Event to Be Held Tuesday in Montreal High Auditorium

A mass meeting of all McGill coeds, including 200 women students from Macdonald College, will take place this Tuesday evening, Jan. 21 at 8 o'clock in the auditorium of Montreal High School. The purpose of the meeting is to present the second term schedule of the War Service Program for Women. Dr. F. Cyril James will be guest speaker, and will give a general presentation of the program for the remainder of the year. A six weeks' study of the principles and practices of first aid given under the auspices of the St. John Ambulance Association was completed by R.V.C. and co-eds at Macdonald College at the end of the first term.

Program for Second Term. The later part of the program will include a study of treatment of shock, exposure and exhaustion; some of the techniques of nursing, especially under emergency conditions; preventive measures in relation to public health; and the nature, spread and prevention of exposure diseases (such as colds, influenza and pneumonia). Included also will be the importance, place and methods of psychotherapy. These meetings will be held Tuesday evenings at which the 800 students enrolled will attend.

The supplying of food, shelter and heat under emergency conditions, both for workers and victims, will be up for consideration. This will involve a study of the regular channels of food supply, as well as food values, the organizing of canteens, emergency rationing, the selection, cost and dispensing of foods by gas, glass etc., chemical and bacterial contamination of milk and water supplies, the nature and menace of waterborne diseases, and various methods of decontamination.

Problems to Be Dealt With. Emergency housing and problems associated with the establishing of temporary dormitories along with problems of heating and clothing in relation to adverse climatic conditions will be dealt with. A knowledge of fire hazards and of air-raid patrol measures will be necessary for an understanding of the whole physical and administrative organizations of the community.

Students will also become familiar with the various governmental and volunteer organizations which function when disaster befalls a community, such as might happen in war time. Problems of evacuation and the handling of evacuees will also comprise a part of the second term Women's War Program schedule.

A habitual English drunkard, released from jail, asks his friend outside the gates, "Well, mate, wot noos?" "There's a law again's treatin'" was the answer, "and pretty near the whole world is at war." The inebriate shakes his head sadly and wisely, "Just think!" he says, "Just think of a no-treating law having such an effect as that!"

Maxims for Study

Today marks the first day of a new term. Students are returning to college with renewed energy and determination and with resolutions to spend the next three months preparing themselves for the final examinations. We offer below some excellent maxims for improving methods of study which were recently issued by the head of the psychology department, with the suggestion that they be clipped for future reference.

1. Keep yourself in good physical condition.
2. Attend to, remove, or treat physical defects that often handicap mental activity.
3. See that the external conditions are favourable to study.
4. Form a place study habit.
5. Form a time study habit.
6. Whenever possible, prepare the advance assignment in a given subject directly after the day's recitation in it.
7. Begin to work promptly.
8. Take on an attitude of attention.
9. Work intensely while you work—that is concentrate, but—
10. Do not let intense application become fluster or worry.
11. Do your work with the intent to learn and remember.
12. Seek a motive, or better, several motives for study.
13. Get rid of the idea that you are working for the teacher. He doesn't care if you pass or not.
14. Do not apply for help until you have to.
15. Have a clear notion of the aim of what you are doing.
16. Before beginning the advance work, review rapidly the previous lesson.
17. Make a rapid preliminary survey of the assigned material.
18. Find out by trial whether you succeed better by beginning with the hardest or with the easiest task when you are confronted with several tasks of unequal difficulty.
19. In general use in your studying the form of activity that will later be demanded when the material is used.
20. Give the most time and attention to the weak points in your knowledge and technique.
21. Carry the learning of all important items beyond the point necessary for immediate recall.
22. You must daily pass judgment as to the degree of importance of items that are brought before you, and lay special stress on the permanent fixing in your mind of those items that are vital and fundamental.

23. When given a bit of information that is clearly of subordinate importance and useful only for the time being, you are warranted in giving it only sufficient attention to hold it over for the time in question.
24. Make the period of study long enough to utilize warming-up, but not so long as to suffer weariness or fatigue.
25. When drill or repetition is necessary distribute over more than one period the time given to a specified learning.
26. When you interrupt your work, not only stop at a natural break, but leave a cue for straight resumption.

27. After intense application pause for a time and let your mind be fallow before taking up anything else.
28. Use various devices to compel yourself to think over your work.
29. Form the habit of working out your own concrete examples of all general rules and principles.
30. Form the habit of mentally reviewing every paragraph as soon as you have read it.
31. Do not hesitate to mark up YOUR OWN books to make the essential ideas stand out visibly.
32. Whenever your desire is to master material that is at all extensive and complex, make an outline of it. If you wish to retain this material commit the outline to memory.
33. In all your work apply your knowledge as much as possible and as soon as possible.
34. Do not hesitate to commit to memory verbatim such materials as definitions of technical terms, formulae, dates and outlines, provided, of course, you understand them.
35. When the materials learned by heart present no obvious rational associations it is perfectly legitimate to invent some artificial scheme for learning and recalling.
36. In committing anything to memory do not break it up into parts, but learn it as a whole.
37. In memorizing it is better to read aloud than silently, and to read rapidly than slowly.
38. If your work includes attendance at lectures, take a moderate amount of notes, using a system of abbreviation, and rewrite these notes amplified into a reasonable continuous outline.

Avenue Asides

New York City, at the height of the winter season is the most vibrant spot on earth. This city, monument of men and to men, revels in the brilliancy of the holidays and wears its holiday face until the heat or the humidity or what you will closes in and announces a siesta.

The new Sixth Avenue subway has revealed Sixth Avenue as New York's ugly duckling on the verge of becoming a swan. Despite the tropical drink stands, penny arcades and general disorder, the Avenue is challenging the proverbial grandeur of Fifth.

The Empire State Building still towers in untenant splendour, the Hudson River remains gray and sinuous during an early morning drive, Maurice Evans' name is shining again from the marquee of the St. James Theatre, and the Radio City Music Hall Rockettes are still in step.

After a discouraging start, Broadway has presented New York with several distinguished theatrical productions. Every type of show is available from "Twelfth Night" with Helen Hayes and Maurice Evans, to "Panama Hattie", which has Ethel Merman meeting Cole Porter half way.

In Twelfth Night, Miss Hayes, playing her first Shakespearean role, completely captivates the audience as Viola. Although Mr. Evans plays Malvolio with great skill and originality, it is impossible not to think longingly of his princely Hamlet and the 'bloody but unbowed' Richard. Even Shakespeare didn't bat a hundred per cent. Nevertheless, taken for what it is, Twelfth Night is magnificently played and staged with great imagination.

The New Yorker Magazine is well represented with Pat Joey compiled from the series of short stories by John O'Hara and "My Sister Eileen" by Ruth McKinney both presented as plays. The first is that rarest theatrical specimen, a musical comedy with a plot. "My Sister Eileen" shows the direction of George Kaufman more surely than the authorship of Miss McKinney. Since the essential charm of the stories lay in the blithe McKinney touch, the play has become merely a series of amusing situations which depend for their effectiveness on slapstick props.

Another quick look at that tourists' mecca, Hellzapoppin, has shown that the situation remains more or less where it was. The audience works at least as hard as the performers and someone should remark as much to the Actors' Equity Association.

The ASCAP (American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers) BMI (Broadcast Music, Inc.) struggle is all rather painful history now. Apropos of this is the following small item which probably belongs in the War Is Hell Department. The government wielded axe of conscription has dealt the ranks of swing musicians a fearsome blow. Tommy Dorsey alone has lost several men, among them Ziggy Elman, trumpeter. It looks as if Phil Spitalny will take over for the duration.

MUSIC NOTES

Composer-Planist with Orchestra

Anis Fuleihan, the young American composer-planist whose Second Piano Concerto was introduced here two years ago by Eugene List, will himself be the soloist at next Sunday afternoon's Montreal Orchestra concert. Already programmed are Mr. Fuleihan's First Piano Concerto, to be accompanied by the string section of the Orchestra under Dean Clarke, and the Second Symphony of Beethoven.

Fuleihan is of Syrian parentage and was born on the island of Cyprus, coming to America at the age of 15. He has concertized extensively, and was recently awarded a Guggenheim Fellowship for his work in the field of composition. In addition to his piano-concerts which have been widely played, his "Mediterranean Suite" has been played by several leading American orchestras and by the BBC Symphony in London.

Brailowsky in Recital
 Perhaps one of the outstanding Chopin interpreters before the public today, Alexander Brailowsky will give a recital in Montreal at Plateau Hall on Monday evening, February 3. Acknowledged a brilliant keyboard performer, the tall, spare Russian musician is to be the second artist to appear here this season under the auspices of the Montreal Concert Series. The series opened last month with a recital by Lauritz Melchior and closes in March with a concert by Marian Anderson, the distinguished American Negro contralto.

GIVE US THIS DAY

This is the CBS newroom, 465 Madison Avenue, New York City, 17th floor. A lot of noise here. None of it very loud, but a lot. Most of it from the ten teletype machines along the walls. They keep running all day long. Associated Press, United Press, International News Service. On the wall there's a loud speaker and you can tell from the blurred voice that one of CBS' correspondents abroad is making his report.

Through the glass you can see a large fellow in a brown suit sitting before a mike in the studio. He seems to be listening to the report we're hearing.

This is Berlin signing off . . .

There's a pause. All you can hear is the noise of the machines. The fellow behind the mike has been looking at the clock on the wall. Now he glances down at the yellow paper in front of him.

And now we hear from our correspondent in Tokyo . . .

Another pause. Then . . . Tokyo. The man on the leather couch in the studio—the one in the white shirt and bow-tie—is Elmer Davis. He's sitting next to Major George Fielding Eliot, CBS military analyst, making notes on a yellow pad as he listens to the correspondents abroad.

Tokyo signing off . . .

Elmer Davis comes over to a chair behind one of the mikes. Warren Sweeney—in the brown suit—introduces him. Davis looks at the clock, then down at his notes and begins to speak. In five minutes he's finished.

He comes out into the newroom now with several other men who edit the news and they all look over the reports on the machines. Then they discuss the President's speech which is to be broadcast in an hour. They talk about a round-up of editorial opinion they plan to do an hour after Mr. Roosevelt has finished speaking. It's never been done before. But they're going to take a crack at it.

Back in the newroom at 11:13. The President finished his speech an hour ago and Major Eliot is just closing his analysis of the day's news. Bob Trout, newscaster, is seated beside the Major in a sweater with an open collar. He has just received a galley proof of the editorial on the President's speech from the New York Herald Tribune. But that's all he has in his hand.

Major Eliot is finished and Bob Trout begins to quote from the Tribune editorial. He's down to the last paragraph before someone hands him a strip of teletype paper with editorial comment from the Daily News. That's all he has. There are still eleven minutes to go.

Then things really begin to happen. A phone rings. It's London. From three machines come quotations from editorials the nation over. There are two or three men in shirt-sleeves reading and cutting. Now they're all given to Bob Trout.

He glances at the clock and begins to speak a little faster. Still eight minutes left and the stuff is rolling in. Every one's hurrying but there's no excitement . . .

Two minutes left and he's still reading. Nothing yet from the New York Times. But here's a galley proof now. No time for cutting. Bob Trout takes it, reads and cuts as he goes along. But he's misjudged his time. He's read the last sentence and there are still 25 seconds to go. Someone hands him a small scrap of paper with something written in pencil. It's an A.P. dispatch on the latest bombing of London. He reads it. The announcer takes the eight-second closing in five.

Then they all sit there without saying a word watching the second hand on the clock. They're all smiling. The President had finished speaking one hour and 21 minutes before, and they had made a round-up of editorial opinion not only at home but abroad. When the second hand hits 12 they're off the air. They congratulate each other and shake hands.

Then they come out of the studio to look over the latest dispatches on the teletype machines. There's a five-minute news summary in a half-hour.

Maybe every time you hear a news broadcast these days you dial another station because you're fed up. But that doesn't make today's news any less important and the men behind the mikes know it. They're trying to beat an eternal deadline: They read through the thousands of dispatches; they pick out what looks important; they interpret it for you. They're up until all hours of the night and they're speaking to you when you turn on your radio first thing in the morning. They're doing a real job.

—Dartmouth.

Correspondence

Dear Sadie:

Now that exams are all over, you will doubtless be casting your loving eyes on the male element again. I approve your attitude entirely for all work and no play makes Sadie a dull girl.

We Engineers have been rather bold with you at times during the past year. However be not too hard on us Sadie: If we stole your mistletoe it was not to deprive you of the enjoyment of a kiss, but to protect your shapely form from the dastardly passes of those crude Artsmen. If at times we have pelted you with snowballs, it was only to cause you to lift up your pretty face and cast a ray of sunshine into our gloomy windows. If we have railed at the Faculty of Arts, impute to it the boorish conduct of the Artsmen. Have we attacked them, and showered them with water, rejoice, for they are unworthy of your company and need some such punishment to make them realize the fact.

In many ways, we are like spirits, you and I, Sadie; we work hard and play little, we waste little time on improving our appearance, for we are respectively the loveliest and handsomest of the species. But despite our love of science and knowledge, we are as passionate as you are, and crave your company as much as you crave ours. Think of us as little Abner with the loving arms of Daisie Mae, and give us a try: our motto is: We Satisfy. Whether you want to be pushed around a dance floor (provided you be not too heavy) or protected from the cold of winter (provided you be beautiful or the night be dark) we shall not fail you. In the very maw of the Arts building, we shall be faithful to you and hold you close, despite the frantic clutches of the Artsmen. We are willing to ride in taxis or in street-cars for the pleasure of your company.

Whether you wish to bring us to the Normandie Roof or to the System to hold your tender hand we shall gratefully accept. We shall gladly prove to you our capacity for forty beers.

So come into our Building, Sadie, and fear not for you shall be given a rousing reception. Turn the faces of the Artsmen to the complexion of Ironpans Yokum. When your most important week at college begins, wander into the corridors of the Engineering Building and take your pick. Don't forget that the Plumbers' Ball is coming soon. And remember if you get an Engineer will be the catch of your life.

Abner Engineer

COMPANY SKI MEET AT ST. SAUVEUR SUNDAY

DOWNHILL RUN ON 70 FIRST EVENT

ZONE CARDS READY

Downhill at 11 A.M., Jumping at 2.30 in Afternoon

POST ENTRIES GOOD

Slalom and Cross-Country Takes Place Next Week-end

The first of a series of Inter-company ski meets is scheduled to be held this week-end at St. Sauveur, under the auspices of the McGill Outing Club. The outstanding popularity of the Intercompany meets in the past ensures a large enlistment of competitors for the forthcoming meet. This Sunday will see the downhill and jumping taken care of while the remaining two events, slalom and cross-country, will be run off next week-end.

The site for the Downhill event will be the slope at the side of Hill 70 and the starting time will be 11 A.M. Sunday the 19th. Jumping will begin at 2.30 on the jump between Hill 70 and the Downhill run. Reid Hyde, who with his committee has organized the meet, emphasizes the necessity for all entrants being at the starting line on time so as to ensure the smooth running of the events.

POST ENTRIES ACCEPTED.

The committee announced last night that post entries will be accepted up until the running of the events and that zone cards may be obtained from Jack Bailey, Reid Hyde, Lorne Lindsay, or Dave Whitall. Members of the Outing Club who have not as yet exchanged their membership cards for badges may do so at the Athletic Office in the Gymnasium.

The Intercompany Meets will be continued later on in the season, the next date probably being on February 23. According to present plans the first twenty men from this week-end's meet will be eligible to compete at this future date and as with all other sports, points will go towards the Intercompany total. The results from this Sunday's contest will also go far in deciding who will make the team going to the Dartmouth Carnival two weeks from now.

SKI MANAGER WANTED

The growing responsibilities in the management of the Ski team has made it necessary to appoint a ski manager, Reid Hyde announced last night, and applicants for this post are asked to get in touch with Reid as soon as possible. The man chosen must have a thorough knowledge of the sport but not be a competitor himself.

Any McGill jumping enthusiasts will be interested to note that the Cote des Neiges take-off is now in use and may be used by them to practice for Sunday afternoon's slalom and zoom session. There is a good possibility that a few records may be hacked down at the meet if the present weather holds and the surface remains fast.

NUMBERS GIVEN OUT.

Numbers for the various contestants may be obtained at the bottom of the St. Sauveur Downhill run before the race on presentation of the zone cards. The second half of this initial meet will take place next week-end when the slalom and cross country events hold the spotlight.

We can't vouch for the following story, but the student involved swears to its truth. He is still not sure whether he was being kidded.

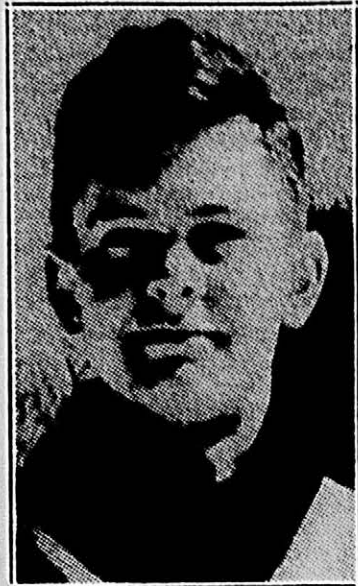

He relates that he had received a pass to visit the dissecting room of the medical school, and decided to take advantage of his pass one afternoon just after a Bible class.

The dissecting room was clean and white and quiet, heavy with formaldehyde. Around their cadavre stood a group of potential M.D.'s in concentrated study, sitting here and pulling there. Suddenly in the still room, the fresh-from-Bible-class young man called out, "Hey, don't the souls ever jump up and say 'Hi, fellows'?"

The instructor, an artist at his work, looked up patiently, walked over and rubbed his chin. "We try to dissect," he observed precisely, "in the belief that there is no soul."

OFF TO DARTMOUTH!

DOUG MANN, winner of downhill at Dartmouth last year, will lead the Redmen in the famous Winter Carnival at Hanover, New Hampshire.

calling all co-eds

by winnifred

The first part of the session 1940-41 proved a very successful one in all divisions of the M.W.S.A.A. Perhaps the most outstanding development was the decision to hold intersection competition in the various sports that showed sufficient enthusiasm. This decision was ratified by a meeting of the Women's Athletic Council, with the Section representatives last December. This new plan will come into effect next week and judging from the enthusiasm that has already been shown it should prove one of the most successful enterprises ever undertaken by the M.W.S.A.A., for not only will it promote an interest in all the sports but also develop a fine team spirit amongst the various sections. The possibility of holding a Gym Demonstration seems very appealing as the co-eds are taking a special delight in their marching tactics.

Swimming was one of the chief interests during the past session. Under the able direction of Margaret McKay, this the newest activity of the M.W.S.A.A., has gone forward with leaps and bounds. Meetings have been held on Wednesday evenings in the Knights of Columbus pool. Moreover the co-eds were very fortunate in obtaining the valuable assistance of Miss Helen Mackey, coach of the Y.W.C.A. As a result of one of their meetings it was decided to concentrate on fancy swimming; but also to have speed and diving as variety. Sometime during this term they hope to hold their Intercollegiate Telegraphic Swimming Meet, which will undoubtedly be conducted in much the same manner as the Intercollegiate telegraphic Archery meet.

Fencing showed remarkable progress during the past few months with more interest than ever before, present. The first class was really a delight to behold with about twenty-five awe-stricken co-eds bubbling over with enthusiasm, and very anxious to learn something of the Noble arts of lunging and parrying. Successive classes proved just as inspiring and with the able instruction of Maitre Leuchter the co-eds were learning very quickly and hope now to enter into some type of competition.

Everyone was naturally very sorry to hear that Margo van Reel had decided to resign from her duties as manager, which she has so ably handled for the past two and a half years. Margo started the club just that long ago, and ever since it has been one of the most enthusiastically attended groups in the field of Women's sports. As the final gesture of her long and successful "reign" Margo was very proud to announce that the Fencing club had been granted the use of the R.V.C. Lower Gymnasium for two extra hours in the week.

Margaret Pettes, one of the first members of the club, graciously took over the helm with the help of an assistant manager. This assistant will of course become next year's manager, thus making provision for an experienced manager each year.

HIGHLANDERS TO BATTLE REDMEN

N.H.L. HILITES

Canucks Crush Chihawks 5-1 To End Slump

Gardiner Gives Brilliant Performance in Goal

Scoring a goal in each of the first two periods and adding three more in the final frame for good measure, Les Canadiens broke a five game losing streak at the expense of Chicago Hawks, last night, and handed their new custodian, Sam Lo Presti, the first defeat of his short N.H.L. career. The Forum was not too well-filled to see Bert Gardiner, the Canuck goalie, give a sensational display for the flying Frenchmen in handcuffing the Windy city outfit to one solitary goal in the first period.

FIRST PERIOD.

Play was hardly five minutes old when Benoit converted a double relay from Drouin and Gettiffe to give the Canucks a one goal advantage. The crowd went wild when George Allan was penalized and the Canadiens put on the pressure. Lo Presti looked pretty good out there as he was kept hopping by the charging Canucks. Doug Bentley broke away nicely, but Gardiner brought the crowd to their feet with a sensational stop. The Hawks tied it up midway between the period when Allan blinked the light, just catching the top corner, with Gardiner's view blocked by a maze of players in front of the net. Bill Carse and March drew assists on the play. Chamberlain went off for his first penalty of the game but the Hawks were stemmed by the fine defensive work of Portland and Reardon.

SECOND PERIOD.

Elmer Lach ran the count to 2-1 for the locals after three minutes of the second period had been played, and the fans whooped it up. Chamberlain drew his second penalty of the night for cross checking, and the Hawks were caught flatfooted when Benoit broke away seconds later. Lo Presti robbed him of a sure goal with a beautiful diving save. March for the Hawks romped through the whole Canadian team and was headed for a sure goal when Reardon came from nowhere to bat the puck off his stick. Just before this, Mariucci and Portland had a brief skirmish along the boards but nothing came of it. The crowd went wild as the Canucks hemmed the visitors in their own end for

DICKISON, ANTON PLAY

Hockey Match Is Highlight of McGill Sport Season

BLACK WATCH STRONG

On Friday, January 24 the Redmen will play their first and last hockey game of the 1940-41 season, against the Black Watch. Ten men have been chosen so far to represent the famous Highland regiment, and the rest will be chosen at a practice Sunday. There is keen rivalry in the ranks regarding the choice, but no doubt many will be members of Royals, both past and present.

DICKISON, ANTON TO PLAY.

The McGill squad will be greatly strengthened by the addition of Cam Dickison and Andy Anton to the line-up. Although Dickison is a graduate of McGill and has been out of the swim for some time, Coach Farquharson snapped him up for the Reds as soon as he found out he was eligible. Dickison is at present a captain attached to the training unit, at McGill. He has succeeded in ironing out most of the rough spots in his play at two tough practices, and is expected to be in the best of form for the game. Andy Anton, a member of the Royals, is to play on the first line of defence with Dickison. The remainder of the Red team has shown its prowess in the Intercompany league. Ritchie has been picked to tend nets while Morrison, Crutchfield, MacDonald and Keay will make a strong offensive aggregate.

HIGHLANDERS STRONG.

On the Black Watch line-up, Ronnie Perowne and Alex Hamilton will encounter their alma mater, and if the boys fight as hard for the Highlanders as they did for the Reds, the game won't be a cinch to win. Gerry Heffernan, who has played hockey on an international scale, will also be a major threat in the offensive play. Gordon Noseworthy and Pete Jotkus, buddies of the M.F.C. backfield, will also be on hand to do their bit in making the game one of the greatest amateur puck classics Montreal has ever seen.

In addition to the hockey game, the Winter Club has provided a half hour of figure skating to take place before the game and between periods. Among those present are such familiar names as Audrey Hoyce, Dorothy Benson, Elizabeth Gaunt, Dorothy Hunter, Audrey Hunter, Pauline Strachan, Dwight Parkinson, Douglas Coughtry and Wingate Smith.

McGill Men to Participate in Dartmouth Winter Carnival

The ban on McGill athletics will be partially lifted next month in order to allow the college to be represented in the annual Dartmouth carnival, at Hanover, New Hampshire. This exception was made because participation entails no cost for the University, and the number of students affected is small.

Of the eight men who will make the trip, six have been selected. These are Doug Mann, Bob Townsend, Don Tirrell, Chris Marren, Harry Scott, and Fred Moore. The meet will take place on February 7, 8, and 9, and Dartmouth will see to the housing of the participants as usual.

The Redmen have been training hard in anticipation of the event and they hope to better or at least equal their showing of last year when Mann won the downhill and came second in the slalom. Many have been competing in local meets though the weather has cut down the number of these.

The expenses for the trip will be taken care of by Dartmouth and it is possible that a return meet may be organized later in the year. Another meet potentially in the offing is on with Varsity, an invitation to compete against McGill's first team having been received from Toronto. As no money is available from the university for this trip, the boys have offered to pay their own expenses.

Norm Duke and Bill MacDonald Do Coaching Duties

Due to the unfavorable weather during the Christmas holidays the co-eds were unable to follow out their plans to have several days of intensive hockey practice. It was thought that this would serve to get them into condition for the coming frays, but during the next week they should have ample opportunity to do this. Last week the manager was pleased to announce that the enthusiasm of the aspiring hockey-ists was still very apparent, as they turned out in large numbers to the initial 1941 meeting.

During the past week, four very persevering co-eds braved the blasts and turned out to all the practices that have been held. Bill MacDonald and Norm Duke have been doing an excellent job of putting these hockeyists through their paces, and the results have proved their coaching abilities.

R.V.C. to Make Debut in Intersectional Athletics

Ten Sections to Take Part in New Program

Due to the Women's War Service Programme, many coeds who would otherwise have taken part in Intercollegiate Competition will now be devoting all their energies to the new Intersectional Programme that has been planned by the Women's Athletic Association in co-operation with the Physical Education Department. During the first term many meetings were held to determine whether this type of programme would meet with the approval of the coeds and it was finally decided to carry it out as most coeds seemed to approve of the idea. Consequently a manager was chosen in each section by popular vote.

These managers have quite a responsibility on their hands, for it is their duty to keep their section informed of the various activities that are taking place in the new Intersectional Athletics programme. However, the main responsibility for each sport still lies with the individual athletic managers who are doing everything they can to co-operate with the new idea.

COMMENCE NEXT WEEK.

Due to the preparation that has taken place during the past session, it will now be possible to commence the new programme immediately. Next week on Wednesday afternoon will see the first of the series getting under way when the coeds hold their first Intersectional Basketball fray.

Although ten sections will be taking part in this new programme which includes Badminton, Basketball, Hockey, Archery, Ping Pong, Swimming and Skiing.

The tournaments will take place between January 20th and the end of February. It is being conducted this way in order to keep everything going at a high speed. The programme is condensed, but extremely interesting. It is expected that the coeds will become very enthusiastic about the honors gained by their section, and as this new programme gives everyone a chance to compete they will possibly be able to gain some points themselves. The various games will be played off in the forms of Round Robin Tournaments, Elimination tournaments and also elimination meets. Quite a number of the titles will be played in the Sir Arthur Currie Memorial Gymnasium where the coeds hold their basketball practices once a week at present. For the benefit of those who wish to keep up with their section's activities there will be a chart in the R.V.C. Gymnasium telling the whole story.

every Wednesday and Friday from 4-6 p.m. in the R.V.C. They were resumed on the eighth of January.

Squash under the able management of Betty Brodie had a very successful few months, with quite a number of girls having mastered the art. Practices were held every Tuesday afternoon under the able direction of Mr. Ted Greene, from 4-6 p.m. in the Sir Arthur Currie Memorial Gymnasium. Every Friday afternoon the courts were available for the co-eds who wished to play without instruction. Some kind of a tourney is being planned to take place during the term.

Hockey with Marg Baty as manager went along at a great rate. Due to favorable weather conditions it was possible to hold an outdoor practice in December under the able direction of Norm Cuke and Bill Macdonald. As usual the co-eds are all looking forward to this session when they will have an opportunity to meet such notables as the Engineers and the Theologs in ice frays.

Unfortunately due to unfavorable weather conditions it was impossible to hold the Outdoor Archery Tourney, but the Indoor will be held during the coming session. An extremely successful Beginners' tourney was held with the winner hitting 35 out of 36 times. The R.V.C. co-eds managed to place a bit higher up on the scale in the Intercollegiate Telegraphic

He will represent McGill at the Dartmouth Carnival.

Meet, but unfortunately this could not be considered as a complete meet as many of the colleges could not complete their shooting due to weather conditions.

Last year the Skiing classes were once more under the able direction of Mr. George Swinton who proved so successful in the past. Outdoor classes will commence in the very near future.

The co-eds during the first month of the past session were pleased to announce that they were the proud possessors of their own ski house. Something new and different was tried when Judy Jaffe took charge of a hiking party over one weekend in order that the co-eds who like hiking might have an opportunity to do so. It proved very successful, and it is a valuable suggestion for future years.

Last but not least we come to Badminton. This has assumed a very important role in the girls sports programme this year. Every Tuesday and Thursday evenings in the Sir Arthur Currie Memorial Gymnasium mixed badminton was held, sometimes with over thirty co-eds taking part. Improvement in the playing was very marked, and the enthusiasm was so great that the evenings are now a regular part of the program.

The Murray League games gave helpful experience to some of the better players. So far the R.V.C.-ites have proved quite successful, being beaten once only in their first game by 13-3 by St. Albans. However, they managed to tie with St. Albans in the return game, and they defeated St. James the Apostle 11-5. During this session five games are scheduled to take place, as well as mixed tourneys and the "Annual M.W.S.A.A. Tournament."

Literature Society
The next meeting of the Literature Society will be held Wednesday, January 22nd, in the R.V.C. Common Room, at 8 o'clock.

PROGRAMME

McGill Songs

HAIL! ALMA MATER

Hail! Alma Mater, we sing to thy praise,
Great our affection, tho' feeble our lays;
Nestling so peaceful and calm 'neath the hill
Fondly we love thee our dear old McGill.

PUT ON YOUR RED AND WHITE SWEATER

Put on your red and white sweater,
For you'll have none better,
And we'll open up another keg of beer
For it's not for knowledge
That we came to college,
But to raise H— all the year.

JAMES MCGILL

James McGill, James McGill,
Peacefully he slumbers there,
Blissful though we're on the tear,
James McGill, James McGill,
He's our father, well, yes, rather,
James McGill.

THERE'LL ALWAYS BE AN ENGLAND

There'll always be an England
While there's a country lane;
Wherever there's a cottage small
Beside a field of grain.
There'll always be an England
While there's a busy street;
Wherever there's a turning wheel
A million marching feet.
Red, white and blue, what does it mean to you?
Surely you're proud, shout it aloud,
Britons awake,
The Empire, too, we can depend on you,
Freedom remains, these are the chains
Nothing can break.

R.H.C. Songs

THE ROYAL HIGHLANDERS
We are the Royal Highlanders, we come from Verdun
We come from good old Westmont—and some from Cote St. Paul
And when we get to Germany we'll show them we are the best
We're the boys to stop the bullets with the Molson's on our chest.

So let's away to Germany will be our battle cry
So let's away to Germany, we'll drink before we die
And when we get to Germany we'll show them we are the best
We're the boys to stop the bullets with the Molson's on our chest.

BONNIE DUNDEE

Come fill up my cup, come fill up my can
Come saddle my horses, and call out my men,
Unhook the west port and let us gae free
For it's up with the bonnets of Bonnie Dundee.

HIGHLAND LADDIE

Where ha' ye been a' the day,
Bonnie laddie, Highland laddie!
Saw ye him that's far away, Bonnie laddie!
On his head a bonnet blue Bonnie laddie, Highland laddie!
Tartan plaid and Highland trew Bonnie laddie, Highland laddie!

THE GARB OF OLD GAUL

In the garb of old Gaul with the fire of old Rome
From the heath-covered mountains of Scotia we come,
Where the Romans endeavour'd our country to gain
But our ancestors fought and they fought not in vain.
Such is our love of liberty, our country and our laws
That like our ancestors of old, we stand by freedom's cause,
We'll bravely fight, like heroes bold, for honour and applause
And defy our foes with all their arts, to alter our laws.

M.R.T.B. ATHLETIC MANAGERS MEET

B Class Intercompany Hockey League to Be Formed

At 5 p.m. yesterday the M.R.T.B. sports representatives held a meeting in the Gymnasium for the purpose of drumming up more support for Intramural activity. Hay Findlay and Em Orlick, were present, and Horce Groves and Jim Kenny were elected president and manager respectively of the council. Greater co-operation between the athletic council and M.R.T.B. sports was suggested.

"B" HOCKEY TEAMS.

It was decided that a second hockey team would be formed in each company, and that these teams would play on the McGill rink at hours convenient to themselves. This was a substitute for the Inter-plateau Hockey league which was found unfeasible. The winning team of the B class would be given a play-off at the Forum with the winners of A league.

A motion proposing that all participants in M.R.T.B. sports play only for the Company to which their class belongs, was carried. Bill Weber proposed that any player of A class who had played one game in 1941 would be ineligible for B class hockey. This was passed.

EACH SPORT REPRESENTED.

It was also decided that representatives of each Company be appointed, one for each sport in which the Company participated, who would be responsible for the turnout in their respective sports. This would take the strain off the present representatives who have no well defined duties and who must take care of sports in which they do not participate.

The present Company representatives are George Clark, Bill Weber, Tom Chown, Glen Cowan, Horace Groves, Lorne Lindsay and Jim Kenny.

fully three minutes with a brilliant offensive, possibly the best they have given this year. They had Lo Presti doing everything but stand on his head, but the rookie was unbeatable in the Chicago goal. Gardiner was given a few anxious moments as the players had several hot scrambles around his nets. Doug Bentley missed a glorious chance when he drew Gardiner out on a brilliant solo. Just as the period ended Demers made Lo Presti wince with a screaming shot from close in. Mariucci drew two penalties during the period, and was very aggressive out there as he stepped into everybody.

THIRD PERIOD

The locals, confident that they could erase their five-game losing streak, were further incensed when Goupille wacked a beauty behind Lo Presti as the third period was a minute and a half old. Art Wiebe, who played a grand game on the Hawk defence all night, drilled a hot one at Gardiner who stopped nicely. The Hawks were trying to get close, and gave the Canuck net-minder many an anxious time, but Selbert drew a penalty to relieve the pressure. Blake and Quilly had Lo Presti thinking there were a thousand pucks out there as they repeatedly batted the puck around the Chicago net. At last the puck was shot overboards and the Hawks took a breather.

Graboski drew a two-minute rest for cross checking and the Chicago team made Gardiner hop but no damage was done. Goupille took a rough ride from Red Mackay, the Hawks' new defenceman, and didn't like it a bit. Play was wide open at this stage, and play went from end to end with both teams missing some good chances. Gelliffe drew a penalty for slashing March, but a few seconds after he returned, he scored on a passing play with Reardon. Drouin also drew an assist on the play. With seconds remaining, Demers made it further tough for Lo Presti when he scored on a flip shot to bring the final count to 5-1 for Canadians.

from 6-7 p.m. Anyone who has not been called out before but has an urge to become a co-ed hockeyist will be very welcome at this afternoon's practice, which will be held from 3-4 p.m. Co-eds are kindly requested to be on time and if possible a few minutes before the hour, as the ice is only available for the hour, and considerable time is wasted putting on skates and other necessary equipment.

The co-eds are urged if possible to bring along their own sticks as the ones in the college collection besides being limited in number are somewhat the worse for wear, and might be difficult to manage in a game.

A notice has just been posted in R.V.C. concerning the new Intersection plan that has been worked out. If there are any co-eds who would like to represent their section in playing hockey they are urged to sign the list as quickly as possible, for if there are not enough co-eds on the list by the end of next week the plan will be abandoned as far as hockey is concerned.

He lectured in political philosophy at Leipzig and in Economics at Cambridge University. In 1919 Mr. Loveday joined the League's Secretariat.

The President and National Executive Committee of the League of Nations Society in Canada extend an invitation to attend this dinner, to all persons interested in the institutions represented by their distinguished guests.

Sylvia Grove Takes Top Honours in Both Events

Sunday, January 12th saw the first coed ski meet of the season, being held at St. Adele. Conditions were ideal for such a meet with clear cold weather and dry snow. This gathering the first of its kind, took the form of an intersection competition, with the coeds skiing as individuals but chalking points for their respective sections in gymnasium under the War Service Training Programme. Enthusiasm was great in the first event of the day which was a tricky slalom course set on the Chantecler hill. Sylvia Grove the ski manager captured top honours in all frays with the results as follows:

	Secs.	Secs.
Sylvia Grove, A2	24.5	19
Betty Smith, C3	25	26.5
Irene Smith, A1	29	27
Joan Anderson, C3	30	29

Elspeth Russell, A2	43	36
Marjorie Lewis, A2	45	47

DOWNHILL TIE.

The downhill was run from the top of the practice hill by hill 80 on a straight but bumpy course. The results were:

	Secs.	Secs.
Sylvia Grove, A2	22	22
Betty Smith, C3	22	22
Joan Anderson, C3	23	23

Irene Smith, A1	28	28
Marjorie Lewis, A2	28.5	28.5

The meet was run under the direction of Frances McLeod, last year's ski manager. Those assisting were Harriet Mitchell, Dorothy Ann Ray, and Geraldine Hamlet. The results, based on an aggregate of points, were: 1st. Section A2; 2nd. Section C3; 3rd. Section A1. These sections will be awarded 50, 30 and 10 points respectively.

VOLLEYBALL LEAGUE

Once again the Inter-Platoon Volleyball League gets under way with thirteen games scheduled for next week. As in the first term all games are to be played on Wednesdays and Thursdays from 5.00 p.m. to 6.00 and from 6.00 p.m. to 7.00.

Next week's round of games almost cleans up the second half of the preliminary series and four more games after this will see the start of the ELIMINATIONS.

The Elimination Tournament which will commence on the week of the 27th will see only the high-point teams in action. A few teams have already been scratched but most of them still stand a chance of making the playoffs so that the remaining games in the preliminary series should be quite spirited. Out of the original 35 teams that were entered in the Volleyball League only 16 are to be selected on the basis of their standing to making a bid for the Platoon Volleyball Championship of the M.R.T.B.

By virtue of the fact that both of the Macdonald College teams won all of their games in the preliminary series they are qualified to enter the elimination tournament and can be counted on to give a good account of themselves. Judging from the good showing made by Meds III and IV who are teamed up as Independents No. 4 this team should also be able to make the "Eliminations." Offhand it is difficult to say which of the many Platoons in the M.R.T.B. are likely to be in on the final battle but at this time next week standings will be almost entirely completed and it should not be difficult to post a complete list.

All players and team representatives are asked to watch the notice boards and the Daily carefully and to be sure to report for these final determining games.

Comment From Columbia

By Henry W. Patterson.

they had been foolish enough, and honest enough, to come out and state their real platform, they would have died a quick death as an organization. There was, and still is, in this country a great mass of pro-British patriots who are opposed to direct physical involvement in any war. They were looking for a committee to be their mouthpiece. Marshall and his gang made the most of this opportunity. They had an "in" ready-made.

The NFWC wasted no time. Fifteen Senators and no less than twenty-five Representatives were said to be behind the "program." "The campaign will be financed by public contributions," Marshall boasted, "and we expect money to roll in faster than we can possibly spend it." On December 18 a great threat of involvement under present policy was visualized. Previous statements were reiterated. The White group was attacked again. Marshall himself linked Lindbergh with the NFWC. He called Americans "suckers" for believing that Britain didn't need any aid in the form of manpower. Also for believing that Britain's credits and assets in the hemisphere were nearly as low as Britain would have America believe.

Then Mr. Marshall took a Christmas holiday in Iowa. The more people thought about his statements, the phoner they sounded. The man just wasn't reasonable, they said. The fact was that the man was appearing in his true colors. The transition was apparent to most people, although they were confused by it.

At various times and places Marshall said hotly: "I don't care who wins the war." He called senators "insane," denounced radio commentators as "idiots." He declared: "If Hitler comes to the U.S.A. I'll get myself back to Iowa, get on a piece of land, and stay there." It was in his opening talk that he favored aid to Britain, bragged of senatorial backing, and laughed at Nazi invasion of America.

Whatever following Mr. Marshall might have had dwindled away. He became the butt of much sarcastic criticism. He was labelled

C.O.T.C. BEGINS SPECIALIZATION

New Courses in All Branches Are Underway

Infantry, Engineering Groups Hold Tactical Schemes Tomorrow Afternoon

New courses of instruction in all branches of the services are underway at the McGill Contingent C.O.T.C. Immediately following the "Common to All Arms" examination which was held on December 14th organizational parades took place for new courses in Infantry, (Rifle), Infantry (Machine Gun), Artillery, Engineers, and Army Service Corps. A new course in common to all arms is also under way.

Tactical exercises for the infantry group will take place in the open air on Saturday afternoons. The first of this series takes place tomorrow afternoon at 2.30 behind Loyola College. The Engineering group under the command of Lieut. Col. R. W. Mitchell, M.C., are also holding a tactical scheme on the northern slope of Mount Royal near Fletcher's Field at the same time.

Last week the artillery group was given a demonstration of handling the 3.7 anti-aircraft gun and predictor by a squad from the Royal Canadian Artillery at the Craig St. Armory. Officers expressed their approval at the smart and efficient manner in which the crew handled the gun.

The training, under the command of Major O. B. Rexford, is carried on in five groups: infantry rifle, 260 strong under Capt. J. Bruce Brown; infantry machine gun, 65, under Lt-Col. W. C. Nicholson, D.S.O., M.C.; artillery, 160 under Major St. C. Holland; engineers, 20, under Lt-Col. R. W. Mitchell, M.C., and Army Service Corps, 100, under Lt-Col. A. S. Nops, V.D.

The Army Service Corps has been added to the C.O.T.C. courses for the first time since the war broke out. Also at work in the Sir Arthur Currie Memorial Gymnasium are three groups of students who have written their common to all arms and specialists examinations; 100 men in Infantry (Rifle), 30 in Infantry (Machine Gun), and 20 in Artillery.

Promotions of four officers of the contingent to the rank of Captain was announced by Lieut-Col. J. M. Morris, M.C., V.D., officer commanding the contingent early this week. The four promoted are: F. C. Whitaker, J. T. Huggill, J. E. H. Stethem, and E. H. Kent.

Brig-Gen. E. de B. Panet, C.M.G., D.S.O., officer commanding Military District Number 4 recently visited the C.O.T.C., and made a thorough inspection of all phases of its activities.

"appeaser." America hates the word.

Still a firm disciple of sensationalism, Marshall made news on December 30 by "disclosing" that a Nazi peace plan had been brought back from Europe by W. R. Davis, the oil king. He demanded immediate Government action. Mr. Davis was subpoenaed to appear before a Senatorial Committee of Investigation.

Davis is the boy who double-crossed other American oil-interests in Mexico when he stepped in and offered to sell their oil for them. It had been expropriated from the others by the Mexican government. In fact, Davis' oil interests in Germany would seem to explain why he is interested in a quick, short-cut peace—a negotiated, bloodless victory for the Nazis.

Gradually Verne Marshall built himself into the image of the appeaser, in the eyes of bewildered America. His strategy failed because of the American ability to see behind intrigues. Just last Thursday a great crowd filled Town Hall, New York City, to hear Marshall tackle a member of the White Committee. It was a stormy session.

He was forced to take a terrible heckling from a belligerent crowd. The topic was "Is a Hitler defeat essential to the United States?" I need not tell you whose side Marshall was on. It was not so much Marshall's point of view that the crowd resented, but rather his thin, factless, self-contradicting muddle of talk. One of his main assertions was that "as soon as the world knows America is not going into this war, the war itself will end!" It was hard to reconcile this with his previous statement, the same evening, that the Committee's job was to prevent the giving away of supplies and arms needed for national defence.

He argued that Hitler would restore freedom to Europe's conquered nations if the U.S. intervened in the war for a mediated peace. Someone asked him to define the term "just peace." Marshall's answer is a classic: "The sort of peace which permits the peoples of all nations to have the same opportunities that the people of the rest of the nations have, economically as well as militarily." The crowd boomed for ten minutes.

Verne Marshall and the NO FOREIGN WAR COMMITTEE have talked themselves out of the picture. No one takes them seriously any more. No amount of talk can ever bring them back to favor. Why? because Marshall appealed to the cautious citizen who wished to keep out of war if at all possible. He put up a good front for awhile. But soon he betrayed himself. He openly embraced appeasement. America will never appease!
